Policy Document on Divyangan

The national policy for persons with disabilities, which addresses their educational rehabilitation, was developed by the Indian government in February 2003. As a result, JBRPC has included these policies into the teaching and learning process. In addition to recognizing that people with disabilities are an important asset to the organization, the JBRPC policy aims to establish an atmosphere that affords them equal opportunity, the defense of their legal rights, and full involvement in the educational process.

The following are the policy's main concerns:

1. To make sure that the building's layout, including the ramp and elevator, is accessible to people with disabilities.
2. To guarantee that disabled people have access to gender-sensitive, safe, useable, and functioning restroom facilities.
3. Signage with heightened edges, vivid color contrast, and male and female symbols in accordance with regional norms and standards will be easier to see by everybody and especially beneficial for those who are visually impaired.
4. The proper resources and assistive technology, together with leadership, faculty, and college communities that are sensitive to their needs, are necessary for providing learners with disabilities with enough and appropriate support both inside and outside of the classroom.

Exam guidelines:

Depending on the Students requirements to accommodate the unique requirements of students with disabilities, JBRPC will adapt the educational plan and evaluation framework in a way that is appropriate.

Considerable effort will be taken to accommodate the needs of the sizable population of students with impairments.

The examination department has released guidelines and regulations on the employment of scribes in exams.

In addition to welcoming students with disabilities to JBRPC since 2007, we have pledged to offer the following amenities to anyone who is given a seat there.

1. Accessibility for questions and information: Support staff, a reader, and electronic versions of books material, screen reading.
2. To make sure that the appropriate text and pictogram signage such as tactile pathways, lights, notice boards, and signposts are placed in a way that makes them visible and comprehensible.
3. To guarantee that software tools and procedures are accessible to individuals with impairments. The facility is barrier-free and handicapped-friendly.

Guidelines for the assessment of disability and the procedures to be followed at higher education institutions have been announced by the Indian government. The institution will make sure that people with disabilities are encouraged in accordance with government and affiliated university rules.
